The Amars IV exhibition will take place from 11 to 18 March 2023.

The presentation of the exhibition is scheduled for 18.30 with the intervention of the curator of the exhibition Eva Amos.

The exhibition project will have love as its main theme and all the possible nuances that can be grasped.

Love is an intense feeling of desire that drives us to seek something or someone that can complete us and help us regain the unity that we have lost. As the Greek philosopher Plato quotes: "According to Greek mythology, humans were originally created with four arms, four legs and a head with two faces. Fearing their power, Zeus split them into two separate parts, condemning them to spend their lives in search of their other halves." Wandering to find our missing share which might be a person, an object, an idea that leads us to experience love in order to feel more complete.

This exhibition will take visitors on a journey of self-discovery, as they rediscover the meaning of love through various interpretations and artistic expressions. The idea of the exhibition, in fact, is precisely to give artists the opportunity to express themselves freely and to create a work that represents their personal vision on the subject. A love understood as getting involved in the first person, admiration, pleasure and participating in something greater: therefore becoming part of a living work and no longer looking at it from the outside as strangers.

The exhibition features 35 international artists from Bolivia, Greece, South Korea, Denmark, France, Scotland, Spain, Portugal, Romania, Russia and Italy will accompany the viewer on a path full of multifaceted artistic visions and sensibilities.

The final award ceremony will see the collaboration of Sekkei Design.
