

Hello, I am a young man of twenty-five years graduated in New Technologies of Art with a first level University Master in Game Design, I have certain skills in interactive, artistic and video game video game, and several times I worked in teams with mixed skills for the realization of projects held in workshops and artistic and cultural events. While starting with the idea of approaching the interactivity as a media of entertainment entertainment media, this vision has then matured during the course of studies towards the awareness that interactivity must function as a tool to support culture, territory and their culture, the territory and their social dynamics, without fear of joining the most disparate media and as a means to echo stories in an innovative way, which can innovative way that can create interest and emotions in others.

Best regards.

Lorenzo Lembo
22063, Cantù