Something about me

Driven by a deep curiosity and passion for the evolving world of fashion, I am a dedicated and determined fashion stylist and art director, specializing in visual storytelling. My career journey began with a Bachelor's in Architecture, followed by valuable experience as a project manager at Zegna, where I honed my skills in project coordination and design. However, my desire to explore and innovate in the world of fashion led me to pursue a Master's degree at Domus Academy, where I shifted my focus to styling and art direction—an area that truly ignites my passion. I am committed to research, always seeking new perspectives and creative insights to inform my work. With a keen eye for detail and a strong ability to translate fashion concepts into powerful visual narratives, I approach each project with a holistic vision, combining styling and art direction to create cohesive, impactful experiences. My goal is to inspire and communicate innovative ideas through a seamless fusion of fashion and visual arts.
